Brain Freeze is back on August 6th!

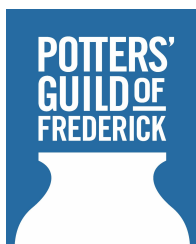

For those of you who are new to the Potter's Guild since we last held this event, Brain Freeze is an annual fundraiser benefiting the Frederick Rescue Mission. For seven years beginning in 2013 until 2019 the Potter's Guild partnered with the South Mountain Creamery to host the annual benefit at our Guild Gallery at 14 S. Market Street.

In order to raise funds we sell tickets that enable purchasers to choose from a selection of donated bowls from guild members, and receive a bowl of ice cream donated by the South Mountain Creamery. The proceeds from the event help the Frederick Rescue Mission to provide support to members of the community experiencing homelessness or chemical addiction.

Come to the Potters' Guild of Frederick at 14 S. Market Street on August 6th to enjoy delicious farm-fresh ice cream donated by the South Mountain Creamery and choose a hand-crafted, one-of-a-kind bowl to take home.

Advance tickets are on sale at Potters' Guild of Frederick Gallery!
Adults: $20, Kids under 12: $10.

Tickets can also be purchased online at <https://www.pottersguildoffrederick.com/shop-1>.

Columbia Screenwriter's Works Play on TV, at the Kennedy Center, and Off -Broadway.

Author: Adam Tobin

Genre: TV Show

"A script is like a party invitation to all the other artists who can work on the project." – Adam Tobin

Adam Tobin is a screenwriter, TV writer, playwright, and improviser born in Columbia, Maryland and based in Menlo Park, California. He is a Senior Lecturer teaching screenwriting in Stanford University's film & media studies program.

Tobin participated heavily in theater growing up, including with Betty May's Onstage Productions. He attended Howard High School. In his sophomore year, he completed a "mentorship" program with horror writer Thomas F. Monteleone, composing a series of short stories with fantastical themes.

Tobin received an English degree from Stanford and then moved to Los Angeles, where he performed with Los Angeles Theatresports, attended USC School of Cinematic Arts for an MFA in screenwriting, and worked as a story analyst at Jim Henson Pictures. An avid Muppet fan, Tobin helped in the development of Muppets in Space and Elmo in Grouchland.

In 1999, Tobin moved to New York and found work on gameshows including ESPN's 2-Minute Drill and Who Wants to Be a Millionaire, where he once wrote a $10-million dollar trivia question.

His inclusion as a finalist in HBO's Project Greenlight in 2003 put his romantic comedy Odd Jobs on display and led to him create the reality show Best Friend's Date and the scripted comedy About a Girl for Nickelodeon's The-N Network (now rebranded as TeenNick.) "I've gotta be the only instructor at Stanford who's been a contestant on and created a reality show," Tobin says.

In 2008, after writing About a Girl in Los Angeles and filming it in Vancouver, Tobin was hired to teach screenwriting at his alma mater, where he "happily offers the course material I had to go to grad school to get." While there, he reconnected with classmate Deborah Wicks La Puma, a prominent composer of musicals for young audiences. Together they conceived of a new show based on Chelsea Clinton's children's book, She Persisted.

Silent Auction closes on Saturday, Aug 27 at 6pm

Frank Zappa asked the question "What is reality?"

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow wrote "Life is real."

Judith Kornett's reality changed forever on the 30th of March, 2022. She experienced a life changing event that proved you can never predict where life will take you.

On this day Kornett suffered a major orthopedic crisis that required extensive surgery and a long rehabilitation. As a result her lifestyle and personal circumstances have been permanently changed, and are great deal more challenging.

This exhibit of Kornett's work is a celebration of her life as an artist, and the anticipation of wherever new doors opening will take her, as both a person and an artist. Please join her in her celebration by visiting and participating in her exhibit/benefit silent auction at the NOMA Gallery, Frederick.
