Frederick Arts Council Receives Grant from the National Endowment for the Arts

The Frederick Arts Council has been approved for an Art Works grant to support its public art program. Overall, the National Endowment for the Arts has approved 1,187 grants in the first round of fiscal year 2020 funding to support arts projects in every state in the nation, as well as the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico.

The Art Works funding category supports projects that focus on public engagement with, and access to, various forms of excellent art across the nation; the creation of art that meets the highest standards of excellence; learning in the arts at all stages of life; and the integration of the arts into the fabric of community life.

"The arts are at the heart of our communities, connecting people through shared experiences and artistic expression," said Arts Endowment chairman Mary Anne Carter. "The National Endowment for the Arts is proud to support projects like the Frederick Arts Council's public art program."

"We are grateful once again to receive the support of the National Endowment for the Arts in our mission of advancing Frederick arts," said Louise Kennelly, Executive Director of the Frederick Arts Council. "Public art has long been a part of Frederick's history, and we look forward to further increasing community engagement through public art in the future." This is the fourth NEA grant to go to the Frederick Arts Council in four years.

The NEA grant will be used for a project of outdoor portraits with the award-winning artist Wing Young Huie (www.wingyounghuie.com) who will work with people of Frederick to develop a series of images that will be on display in a streetscape setting such as on the side of buildings and in windows. Of his inspiration for the project, Wing Young Huie has said, "In photographing thousands of strangers I am continually confronted by my assumptions, when I get out of my own bubble and interact with people from all walks of life, engaging them in conversation. If we as a society redefined what a stranger was, we would have more of a society."

Support the Arts Council by "Voting" for a Carroll Creek Boat!

If you've spent any time downtown during the evening recently, you've probably enjoyed the beautiful Carroll Creek Boat exhibit by Color on the Creek.

This year, you can support some of your favorite nonprofits by "voting" for a boat!

The Ausherman Family Foundation, which has sponsored the "Arctic Racer" boat, will be donating all monetary "votes" for its boat to the Frederick Arts Council. Every dollar you donate = 1 vote!

Encouraging Maryland writers, poets, playwrights, and authors to write

Maryland Writers' Association (MWA) Notable Maryland Author

Maryland Author: Poet Laureate Grace Cavalieri

Genre: Poetry

"I get a huge energy transfusion by listening to poets read their works." Grace Cavalieri

Grace Cavalieri (1932 - . . .) is an Italian American writer living in Annapolis, MD. During her 43-year career as a poet and playwright she has published 24 books, produced 26 plays, and hosted over 2,000 episodes The Poet and the Poem, a radio show presented by the Library of Congress through National Public Radio. She is the author of numerous collections of poetry. Her talent has been recognized through awards that include the Corporation for Public Broadcasting Silver Medal, the Columbia Award from the Folger Shakespeare Library, and the Allen Ginsberg Poetry Award.

A strong believer in higher education, Cavalieri has attended and graduated from New Jersey College at Trenton (BS - Education: English and History) and Goddard University (MA - Creative Writing & Education). She has also studied at the University of Maryland and Graduate School of Education, Rollins University, Orlando.

In December of 2018, Governor Larry Hogan (R) appointed Grace Cavalieri as Maryland's 10th Poet Laureate. The position, created by the Maryland General Assembly in 1959, has a 4-year term. As Poet Laureate, Cavalieri is responsible to accompany the Governor and provide readings at public events and receptions. She makes appearances and holds readings in schools, universities, and libraries around the state. She presents lectures and/or poetry writing workshops as well as connects with literary organizations and festivals across the state. In this regard, she has teamed up with the Maryland Writers Association Poetry Contest as one of its judges. Finally, she has to write new works to honor special occasions, venue openings, and dedications.

"My emphasis is really state poetry and I'm ready to go, really," she said. "I want this to be something where we can keep the excitement happening and post things everyone can be part of. I'm so glad to be given the energy for this new chapter of my life."

Genre: Poetry – Poetry is a form of literature that evokes a concentrated imaginative awareness of experience or a specific emotional response through language chosen and arranged for its meaning, sound, and rhythm.

Partial reading list: Navy Wife; Sounds Like Something I Would Say; The Man Who Got Away; The Mandate of Heaven; Life Upon The Wicked Stage; With; Other Voices, Other Lives.

Writers Prompt - Fun With Words – Maryland Writers' Association (MWA) invites you to have fun writing poetry using just 100 words. Pick or make up a special occasion, venue opening, or dedication and write a poem in honor of the event. Have Fun! Submit your Fun With Words response by the 25th of the month to: www.marylandwriters.org/Notable\_Maryland\_Authors. You will see the "submit" button in the center of the page. Visit www.marylandwriters.org for information about the MWA.

The first exhibition of the new year at TAG/The Artists Gallery is based on the 100 year old art movement known as Surrealism. The exhibition is titled "surREALLY? - Where Dreams Meet Reality" and seeks to examine the intersection of dreams and reality in the artistic process. Or, how the subconscious mind impacts the conscious doing of art. TAG is marking the 100th anniversary by filling the gallery with surrealist-inspired art. The show will include works by members of the gallery as well as artists invited to contribute works based on the theme.

The exhibition opens on Friday, January 3 and runs through Sunday, January 26. An opening reception for the artists is scheduled for January 4, from 5 to 9pm.

TAG is the premier art gallery at 216 N. Market in the heart of Frederick's downtown district.
