Olivia de Guzman, 1st Place Winner for Digital/Computer Graphics Category: "Regarding the man in my photo [entry] (The Pigeon Piper of New York), he has always lived in New York City. He has dealt with... a violent past. The birds have helped him heal and find a life off of the streets. It took him a while for them (the birds) to all become attached to him, and now he's the only one they'll listen to. Despite this, he wants to share the pigeons with others because it brings so much joy, to him and everyone.

I've never been a particularly outgoing person, and it's taken me a lot of courage and work to become more confident in myself. Talking to strangers and getting in contact with people I want to photograph hasn't been easy, but I've been photographing strangers for about 2 years now.... Before photography, I've been drawing and painting for as long as I can remember, and it still shows in most of my photography... I started photography 4 years ago on a smartphone and bought my first DSLR by saving up from art commissions 2 years ago. Now I'm currently enrolled in the Academy for the Fine Arts and haven't looked back since.”

30th Anniversary - Notable Maryland Author Program

Celebrating 30 years encouraging Maryland writers, poets, playwrights, and authors
One year of fun through writing and playing with words

Maryland Author: Ogden Nash    Genre: Poetry - Light Verse

“I am a conscientious man, when I throw rocks at seabirds I leave no tern unstoned.” Ogden Nash

Frederic Ogden Nash (1902 - 1971) Nash was born in Rye, New York and attended and then dropped out of Harvard after one year. He worked on Wall Street and then as a teacher before becoming a copywriter. In 1925, he took a job in the marketing department with Doubleday publishing house.

Throughout his life, Nash loved to rhyme. "I think in terms of rhyme, and have since I was six years old," he stated in a 1958 news interview. Nash published Hard Lines, his first collection of poems, in 1931. The book was a tremendous success allowing Nash to quit his job. He married and had two children. In 1932, Nash devoted himself to verse full-time. Ogden Nash moved to Baltimore in 1934. In the 1950s, Nash focused on writing poems for children, including the collection Girls Are Silly. One of his best known lines is: "If called by a panther / Don’t answer." With his unconventionally rhyming schemes, he was declared the country’s best-known producer of humorous poetry. Nash died in 1971 at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

Genre: Poetry - Light Verse. This type of poetry attempts to be humorous. The poems are usually brief, can be on a frivolous or serious subject, and often feature word play, including puns, adventurous rhyme, and heavy alliteration. Limericks are also light poetry.

A partial reading list includes: Everyone But Thee and Me; Girls Are Silly; Verses From 1929 On; Versus; I'm a Stranger Here Myself; Hard Lines. You can read his poems online at: www.best-poems.net/ogden_nash/index.html.

Writers Prompt - Fun With Words - Maryland Writers' Association (MWA) invites you to have fun writing light verse using up to 100 words. Because light verse can be short, you may submit up to three poems for this prompt. Pick your own frivolous topics and have fun rhyming and playing with words. Please visit www.mwawritersroundtable.org/submit-fun-with-words to read a sample response from this prompt, if you are unsure of how to write this. Submit your Fun With Words response to www.mwawritersroundtable.org/submit-fun-with-words by the 20th of the month and receive an MWA Fun With Words Submission Certificate. Selected prompts will be published next month.

Winter Fever

Opening Reception, First Saturday, February 2nd from 5-9 PM

322 North Market Street, Frederick, MD 21701

Cabin Fever is what affects many people as they hibernate inside during the cold winter months. Winter Fever is how artists embrace the challenge to paint the colors of winter. Yes, there is little or no green in these vibrant works of art. The soft greys, blues, whites and pastels often show up in snow scenes and the barren landscape or in a subtle still life. The theme can be translated into assemblages and sculpture also with the cool tones of stone and paper collage. Gallery 322, invites you to experience, Winter Fever, with artists, Michael Douglas Jones, Jan Kaufman, Linda Kirvan, Anne Gibson Snyder, Ann Schaefer, Russell Schofield, Roberta Staat, and Homer Yost. So join us on First Saturday, February 2, 2019, from 5-9 PM for the Opening Reception, at 322 North Market St. Frederick, MD. Fire and Ice begins on Groundhog Day, all the better to celebrate Winter and look forward to Spring. Gallery 322 is open Saturdays and Sundays from 12-5 PM, or by appointment. Protection, Projection, Definition are all part of dealing with our own and other bodies. Body consciousness: form and fantasy are a huge part of growing up and that maturation process is lifelong with many chapters. Our bodies are our books. We crawl, totter, race and dance through each day of pages together and alone. Artistic representations of human face and figure have charted our growth as a species. This is visually recorded time picturing The Hunt, tools of daily living, and quest for the unknown through ceremony. All people, all through time have these commonalities. We are all different. We are all the same.
