Aid for the Arts in light of COVID-19:

The Frederick Artist Relief Fund

The Frederick Arts Council is closely following the updates regarding COVID-19 (coronavirus) in Frederick County, the State of Maryland, and further abroad.

As a result of the likely impact to our local creative community, we are launching a GoFundMe page to provide grants to Frederick artists in need. If you love the arts in Frederick, please consider pitching in to our relief fund. The arts have been very good to this community. If you take care of the arts, the arts will take care of you.

The Frederick Artist Relief Fund will award grants of $250-$500 to individual artists who live in Frederick County and whose creative practices and incomes are being adversely impacted by Coronavirus 2019 (COVID-19). This fund is for individual artists only, not organizations or nonprofits.

With events of all types being cancelled to reduce spread of COVID-19, people who... make income partially or fully through gigs and freelance work are losing critical opportunities to support their well-being in our community. We want to help as many people as possible, this means that we will likely be unable to provide the full amount of larger requests. Requests cannot exceed $500. The amount we can provide is based on our donations received, the amount of requests we have, and the requests we project will come in the future.

We urge community members who are able to be generous.

Please follow this link to donate to the fund and find eligibility details and funding application.

Additional Resources

The following resources can provide aid and guidance to artists and creative professionals in light of the significant disruption the pandemic has caused:

Rauschenberg Emergency Grants Program

The New York Foundation for the Arts (NYFA) has partnered with the Robert Rauschenberg Foundation to administer a new medical emergency grant program called Rauschenberg Emergency Grants. This marks the first phase of a program that will be in the tradition of Change, Inc., a non-profit foundation established in 1970 by Robert Rauschenberg to assist professional artists of all disciplines in need.

Beginning in late May/early June 2020, the program will provide visual and media artists and choreographers with one-time grants of up to $5,000 for medical emergencies. Eligible expenses include, but are not limited to: hospital and doctor bills (including insurance co-pays), tests, physical/occupational therapy, prescription drugs specifically for the emergency medical condition, and emergency dental work. Applications will be accepted on an ongoing basis and panels will meet monthly to ensure funds are distributed on a timely basis.

Guidance from Americans for the Arts

Like most of you, Americans for the Arts has been watching the breaking news about Coronavirus Disease 2019 (COVID-19) and we are seeing inquiries coming in from the field and through our national service organization colleagues. While gathering and sharing pertinent information, we are also working to understand the long-term effect on arts and culture activities from performance to festivals, touring artists, and school field trips.

Photographer Wing Young Huie on Frederick's Golden Mile

The Frederick Arts Council has launched a public art project on the Golden Mile with award-winning photographer Wing Young Huie along with many local photographers, including nationally recognized photographer Ira Wexler.

Young Huie is known for innovative photography projects which actively engage the community portrayed. He has received national and international recognition for his work and he was featured in two major exhibitions at the Walker Art Center. In 2018 the artist was awarded the McKnight Distinguished Artist Award by the McKnight Foundation.

Last week Young Huie led a master class in Frederick for fellow photographers, guiding participants in taking photographs of people, places and events on the Golden Mile. He also conducted interactive workshops at schools, cultural centers, ESL classes, and other locations throughout the Golden Mile of Frederick, MD.

Local photographers are encouraged to send their Golden Mile photos in to info@frederickarts council.org or upload them to https://tinyurl.com/photo-project. Please also fill out and submit the Nonprofit Media Consent Form.
Even if you were not at one of the workshops or the master class, we invite you to send in your images of people and places on the Golden Mile for "Golden Mile In Focus," an exhibit that will take place in many locations on the Golden Mile.

In Young Huie's workshops the artist asked participants to photograph neighbors, family members, and students, and share their stories and images about culture. He asked about the lives we aspire to have - and asked the question 'What is something someone would not know by looking at you?'; The goal of his artistic approach is to enhance understanding of others and to connect people.

The photographs taken at these workshops along with the photographs sent in to the Frederick Arts Council will be exhibited in Golden Mile In Focus, which will take place throughout the Golden Mile.

If you are business or property owner on the Golden Mile and would like to partner on this project by offering space as part of this community-wide exhibition, please contact info@frederickartscouncil.org.

The deadline for submitting images is April 20, 2020.

Read the Frederick News Post article on Golden Mile in Focus

Golden Mile in Focus will open in June, 2020.

Help Us Name the Frederick Arts Council Center at 5 E 2nd Street!

What are your best ideas? Submit them here!

The Frederick Arts Council's historic property located at 5 E 2nd Street formerly served as a church and was built in 1871.
The Arts Council's intent for the property is to use it as a home base for the County's Public Art Program, as outlined in "Connections," Frederick's Public Art Master Plan; as a location for resident organizations; as an artist in residence site; as an indoor location for the variety of community arts programs and performances such as those found at Sky Stage.

The converted church and community arts center will house public art projects as well as administrative offices for many of the arts council's programs.

Joyce Michaud is the former director of ceramic arts at Hood College. She started the ceramic arts program at Hood and recently retired after 25 years of service to Hood. "High Point" looks at Michaud's development as an educator and artist as she has made her mark in the field of ceramic arts.
Curated by Natalia Kormeluk, the exhibit covers a broad time frame in Michaud's artistic career, including her undergraduate work in painting and printmaking; her thesis work in ceramics, with research on structural strength in the wheel-thrown form; and her teaching and professional career as a ceramic artist. Her journey has taken her across the globe to Aberystwyth, Wales, and Yixing, Jiangsu Province, China, where she presented her research and taught workshops. Her work is found in collections worldwide. It is at Hood, though, where students experienced her passion and tenacity in building the ceramics program that impacted many and created a touchstone, or standard of excellence, in the field of ceramic arts.

From Brain To Bookshelf 2020 writers conference set for March 28-29, 2020

The Maryland Writers’ Association announced that Janet Friedman, the former publisher of Writer’s Digest, is the keynote speaker and presenter for their “From Brain To Bookshelf” annual writers conference being held March 28-29 at the College Park Marriott Hotel & Conference Center in College Park Maryland. Jane is the former publisher of Writer’s Digest, a Great Courses professor, and an author with the University of Chicago Press. Jane will present insider sessions on both Saturday and Sunday.

Saturday: Today’s Key Book Publishing Paths: What’s New, What’s Old, and What’s Right for You? Jane discusses, in plain English, everything you need to know about how book publishing operates today so you will understand the pros and cons of every major publishing path available.

Sunday: The Art & Business of Author Platform. Platform building requires consistent, ongoing effort over the course of a career; the work is never really done, and your strategy will evolve over time. She’ll discuss how to develop an approach and philosophy that fits your personality and the unique qualities of your work.

The two-day conference also offers writers the chance to improve their craft and pitch their projects through Workshops, Panels, and Agent Pitch Opportunities. Each day, writing and publishing experts will lead workshops on various aspects of writing and publishing. Industry panels with agents and insiders will give you the latest lowdown on getting an agent and being signed by a publisher.

Agents will be on site both Saturday and Sunday to hear book pitches, provide critiques, and participate in industry panels. Check out agent profiles at the MWA website to find agents who are looking for your genre and style of work. Pitch and critique session slots are limited and available first come, first served.

• Agent Pitch: $20.00 each (first pitch free for MWA members) - pitch your submission-ready manuscript to agents

• Critique with Agent: $60.00 each for critique of first 10 pages of your work in progress (after you sign up, we'll send information about how to submit your 10 pages ahead of the conference; you'll meet with the agent at the conference to receive feedback on your work)

The College Park Marriott Hotel & Conference Center is in College Park Maryland on the University of Maryland College Park Campus, at 3501 University Blvd East, Hyattsville, Maryland 20783. The Conference Center is 1.8 miles from the College Park Metro Station (long walk or short Uber).

"Occupied Space"
March 6-29, 2020
Opening Reception: Sat, March 7, 5-9pm
Artists' Talk: Thurs, March 19, 7-8:30pm

NOMA's March exhibition showcases the installation work of Virginia Sperry and Jim Roberts. The show, titled occupied space, will feature two separate installations, one by each artist.

Sperry's installation, Filament, takes a common material to a new level of experience. From the detailed, abstract photography of tiny pieces of yarn to the bigger than life waterfalls made from strands of yarn hanging from the ceiling, this installation challenges the viewer's preconceptions of this medium.

Roberts' installation delves into the current political milieu with his work, anatomy of a lie. Showing the various stages of how a lie can take form and spread, the piece is a 3-dimensional illustration of the attacking and discrediting of factual information by laying siege to the 4th estate.

April Exhibition
April 3-26, 2020
Opening Reception: Sat, April 4, 5-9pm
Artists' Talk: Thurs, March 16, 7-8:30pm

Harriet Wise is a longtime Frederick resident and photographer. Well known for 31 years of creating the Bach Calendar, she continues to be project- and idea-oriented and to devote part of every day to documenting the world around her.

The April Show at NOMA combines her love of light and shadow with a study of a number of trees seen on her daily walk in Baker Park. The importance of trees to our world and environment is well known. She has created a visual diary observing trees and their seasons. It is whimsical and in no way complete; a truly on-going daily discovery.
