"Different Copyrights, Different Revenue Streams: Navigating and Understanding the Differences"

For Episode 38 of From A To Global Z, The Global Z Recording Project's General Counsel Mr. James Connell, delivers a presentation titled, "Different Copyrights, Different Revenue Streams: Navigating and Understanding the Differences." Do you understand the difference between a Performing Rights Organization and the Mechanical Licensing Collective?

As more people write, perform, and manage their own music, it is more important than ever for artists and their teams to understand the variety of copyright revenue streams and how to interact with the organizations that collect and distribute them.

This free presentation is available to anyone associated with or interested in the creation and management of music rights, and provides an interactive forum to discuss and answer copyright-related questions. In addition to holding a law degree, Mr. Connell also holds a Master's degree in Music Business from Berklee College of Music.

Sponsors include the Frederick Y Arts Center, and the Frederick Arts Council.
