Brunswick Mural by Artist Lea Craigie-Marshall Now Complete

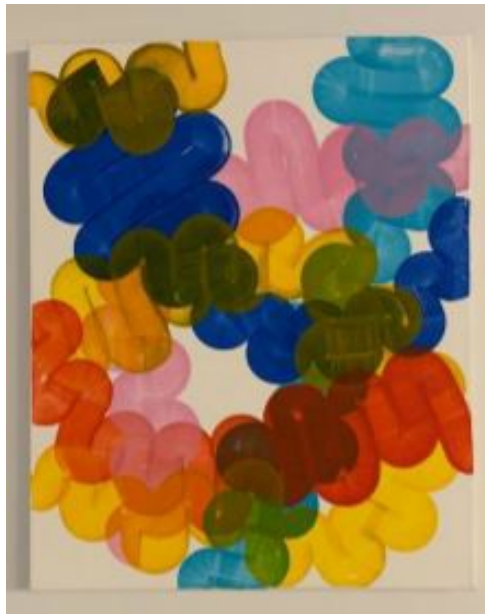

A giant new mural in downtown Brunswick, a project of FAC's Public Art Master Plan, is now complete. The mural is the work of artist and Brunswick resident Lea Craigie-Marshall, and was begun in early August.

The mural features stylized renderings of Brunswick landmarks and the local environment.

To learn more about Craigie-Marshall and the mural, check out this feature in the Frederick News-Post.

Barn Initiative Artists Featured in New Show on First Floor of 5 E. 2nd Street Art Center

The eight artists who participated in FAC's public art initiative surrounding Frederick County Barns have also created pieces which can be viewed in a single location downtown.

A new show featuring their work is on view on the first floor of FAC's art center at 5 E. 2nd Street. The pieces continue the Barn Art Initiative's theme of exploring nature and natural materials.

BMore Art features FAC exhibit: "In her Frederick Arts Council show, Dillin Explores Isolation and Connection"

BMore Art, an arts magazine local to Baltimore, recently featured Lisa Dillin's exhibit "Sorry we missed you," currently on view at FAC's 5 E. 2nd Street art center.

The interview with Dillin and reporter Lauren LaRocca provides an in-depth look at the inspiration behind the exhibit.

FAC's Arts in Education Grants Now Open

The Frederick Arts Council has an annual arts in education fund from which it awards matching grants to schools and other educational entities. The purpose of these grants is to enable teachers and program specialists to enhance their arts curricula by drawing upon the talents of artists and arts organizations in our community.

Schools and other educational institutions in Frederick County are eligible for Arts in Education grants. Schools may submit up to two grants each academic year; the maximum amount of each grant is typically $500 and must be matched 1:1.

Grants are accepted on a rolling basis until the annual budget has been exhausted. It is strongly encouraged that grant applications be submitted at least 30 days prior to the planned arts activity.

Community Arts Development Grant Applications Due Friday, September 10th

Members: Applications for FY2022 Community Arts Development Grants are now available on our website.

The application deadline is Friday, September 10th at midnight.

New to CAD?

Each year, the Arts Council supports nonprofit organizations offering arts programming across Frederick City and County with Community Arts Development Grants. These grants are awarded with funding from both the Maryland State Arts Council and from Frederick County, and are designed to allow high-quality arts programming to be available to as many community members as possible.

To be eligible to receive a Community Arts Development (CAD) grant, your organization must be either a 501(c)(3) nonprofit arts organization or other nonprofit providing arts programming for the community.

Visit our website at the link above for more info and to apply.

FAC Members Around Town

Recently, the Frederick Children's Chorus held a Socially Distanced Outdoor Spring Concert. The concert was directed by Judith DuBose and featured the talents of 38 children of all ages. The FCC has also found a new home recently at First Baptist Church, which has provided the opportunity for safe outdoor rehearsals and concerts.

An art exhibit entitled BLOOM just finished up at the Y Arts Center's Gallery 115 in downtown Frederick. The exhibition drew 17 artists from the MidAtlantic area including Maryland, New York, and New Jersey, and featured works responding, relating or interpreting the word Bloom within the critical contemporary context of our world today.

Exhibits by artists Tom Semmes and Karen Peacock have recently opened at TAG and

2022 Heritage Award Nominations Open September 1st

MSAC will begin accepting nominations for 2022 Maryland Heritage Awards on Wednesday, September 1st. We invite you to nominate individuals, places, and traditions for outstanding achievement in traditional arts and culture. Awards are $5,000 each. Nominations are due Friday, October 15, at 5 p.m. Begin a nomination using MSAC's application system, SmartSimple. Log in to SmartSimple or create a free account at marylandarts.smartsimple.com.

Maryland Traditions, the traditional arts program of MSAC, has given Heritage Awards annually since 2007. Awards are given based on a nominee's sustained commitment to a particular traditional practice, current importance to communities in which that traditional practice is important, and past contributions to that traditional practice. Each year, winners are chosen in the categories of Person or People, Place, and Tradition. Click here to see a list of past winners, and to read the Heritage Awards guidelines and evaluation criteria.

If you have questions about the nomination process, please contact Folklife Specialist Ryan Koons at ryan.koons@maryland.gov. If you require any accommodations to access the nomination form, please contact msac.commerce@maryland.gov. If you have questions about the SmartSimple application system, please contact Grants Management Associate Tammy Oppel at tammy.oppel@maryland.gov.

Chalker, Sci-Fi Author, Recognized by Maryland Writers Association

Author: Jack L. Chalker

Genre: Science Fiction (Sci-fi)

“If you got what it takes, you’ll make it. If you don’t, Shakespeare couldn’t help you.” – Jack L. Chalker

Jack Laurence Chalker (Dec 17, 1944 – Feb 11, 2005) was a science fiction author who was a lifelong Baltimorean. He was born in Baltimore, graduated from Baltimore City College, earned a BA in English from Towson University, and received a Master of Arts in Liberal Studies from Johns Hopkins University. He taught history and geography in the Baltimore City Schools, was a member of the Washington Science Fiction Association (WSFA), and a member of the Baltimore Science Fiction Society (BSFS).

He was an early and avid reader, and had amassed an impressive collection of books by the time he was in junior high. Chalker was also a lifelong Sci-Fi fan. By age 13, he had joined the WSFA and then began writing and submitting sci-fi fan fiction. Chalker first published Mirage, an amateur SF journal, at age 16 and started the BSFS at age 19. He next published Interjection, at age 24 and continued it for 19 years. He attended every World Science Fiction Convention, except one, from age 21 to just before his death at age 61.

His writing caught on. From a review at Library.com – “Jack Chalker’s first novel, Midnight at the Well of Souls, was an immediate hit and elevated him from a fan and hobbyist to a professional at the top of his field, a position he maintained for more than two decades, powered mainly by the Well World series. The seven book series involves a planet-sized supercomputer known as the Well of Souls that builds our reality on top of an underlying reality of greater complexity but smaller size. The computer was built by a now-extinct race, the Markovians, who developed the Well of Souls with the goal of creating a new species that would transcend their own.”

Chalker’s works involve some physical transformation of the main characters. For instance, in the Well World series, immigrants to the Well World are transformed from their original form into a member of one of the 1,560 sentient species that inhabit the artificial planet.

Chalker’s work won several Sci-Fi awards beginning with the Hamilton-Brackett Memorial Award in 1979, a Skylark Award (1980), a Daedalus Award (1983), and The Gold Medal of the West Coast Review of Books (1984).

While Chalker loved Sci-Fi and devoted his life to its success, he also had a great interest in ferryboats; so much so that he was married on the Roaring Bull boat, part of the Millersburg Ferry, in the middle of the Susquehanna River and then after his death had his ashes scattered off a ferry near Hong Kong, a ferry in Vietnam, and White’s Ferry on the Potomac River.

His fans follow each other at his Facebook page: www.facebook.com/JackLChalker.

Call for Visual Artists from Hagerstown's Arts & Entertainment District

What is ART OUTSIDE?

Two artists* will be positioned in Public Square for 3-4 hours to create miniature pieces of artwork to give away to passersby. The goal: bring art to people who work, live, and pass through Hagerstown's Arts & Entertainment District. Some people may request a particular subject to be painted for them, or artists may paint from their own inspiration and give away their creation.

Priority will be given to artists who are residents of Washington County. Secondary consideration will be given to artists from adjacent counties in MD, PA, and WV.*

The Arts & Entertainment District provides:

- a chair, table, and canopy for each artist (staff will set up and break down)
- a variety of canvas, panel, and paper on which to create miniature art (2"x2", 4"x4", etc.).

Artists provide:

- their own brushes, paint, charcoal, fixative, other media, etc.

Compensation:

- $125 fee per session + $25 to reimburse artist for materials purchased

Dates:

- Wednesdays, September 29, October 6, 13, 20, 27, 10:30 am-2:30 pm

Embroidered Spaces

Embroidery installations

Sep 4–Oct 31

McCavour uses a sewing machine to create thread drawings and installations. Through an exploration of line and its 2–D and 3–D implications, stitch is used to explore various concepts such as connections to home, the fibers of the body, and more formal considerations of thread’s accumulative presence.

ABOUT THE ARTIST: Amanda McCavour is a Toronto-based artist interested in thread’s assumed vulnerability, its ability to unravel, and its strength when sewn together. McCavour shows her works, which are created on-site, in galleries throughout her native Canada and internationally.
