FAC Roundtable Recap

The Frederick Arts Council had a great turnout and dynamic conversation on the future of artist workspace in Frederick, MD at last week's roundtable event!

The next steps in the short term include establishing an exploratory committee and visiting potential studio spaces in Frederick for at least 20 art studios. Long-term next steps include developing a vision for an ideal art maker space and locations, creating a field trip committee to visit successful artist work spaces in nearby towns, and establishing an advocacy committee to communicate the needs and value of artist studio space for awareness and support.

Stay tuned for more information on these next steps in the coming months!

The Frederick Arts Council is excited to open the doors of the FAC Art Center from 10 AM-10 PM the weekend of September 23-25 to serve as HOME BASE for the 72-hour film festival.

If you are participating in the 72 Film Fest and you are running low on locations to film, places to edit, somewhere with free and stable wifi, or even just needing to take a break and relax, come to HOME BASE!

Once your film is done you can submit it online or drop off a physical copy at HOME BASE Sunday the 25th 6:00-9:00 PM.

More information on the 72-hour film festival can be found at 72fest.com

Summer 2022

The art installation, Unstructured Rise, by Knoxville artist Alyssa Imes features a variety of materials including textiles and cast iron that highlight Alyssa's approach to creating a multi-media experience for her viewers. Imes' work is about personal connections and social interactions that open new doors and which create a network of emotional relationships. Imes' focus is to spread awareness of growth after trauma. "Unstructured Rise" serves as a retrospective of Imes' work as an artist.

The exhibition will be on view at the FAC Art Center until September 23, 2022.

FAC Exhibit: Infinite Growth

Expressions regarding creating a better existence are central to the artwork on view in Infinite Growth at FAC Art Center. In this exhibition featuring LGBTQ+ artists from Frederick and the mid-Atlantic region, artists respond to the idea of limitless change - understanding and embracing the emerging fluidity and perpetual transformation of the human experience. Curated by Jillian Abir MacMaster, the exhibition features the work of Asher Burrows, Mentwab Easwaran, Jamie Gerhold, Ashley Hoffman, Marz Jackson, Molly Marie Nuzzo, Brooklyn Rando, Charlotte Richardson-Deppe, and Becca Schwartz to consider how growth is cultivated, nurtured, and experienced.

The exhibition is now on view at the FAC Art Center until September 23, 2022.

The Museum is seeking innovative and artistic proposals that intelligently interpret the acts of gathering, relaxing, and dining in a welcoming setting from artists who would like to be selected to design and build a table. Current plans are to build several tables each year for the next several years.

Anyone living within Maryland can apply, including amateur and professional artists, as individuals or as a group.

Deadline is rolling and applications will be reviewed as received.

Encouraging Maryland writers, poets, playwrights, and authors for 30 years

Author: John DeDakis

Genre: Mystery/Suspense

"Don't give up. The manuscript for my first novel went through 14 major revisions over 10 years and was rejected nearly 40 times until my current agent fell in love with it." – John DeDakis

John DeDakis (deh-DAY-kiss) is a native of La Crosse, Wisconsin. He earned a B.A. in Journalism from the University of Wisconsin-Madison in 1977 following a stint in the U.S. Army. From 1972-74 he was a Special Events Reporter at The American Forces Network-Europe where he interviewed legendary film director Alfred Hitchcock. DeDakis then became a General Assignment Correspondent with CBN News and was their White House Correspondent during the last three years of the Reagan presidency. He interviewed both Reagan and Jimmy Carter. In 1988, DeDakis began a 25-year career with CNN, starting as a writer. From 2001 to 2005, he supervised the writing on CNN's "Daybreak," anchored by Carol Costello. He copy-edited newscasts anchored by Donna Kelley, Leon Harris, Bill Hemmer, Daryn Kagan, Kitty Pilgrim, and Martin Savidge.

He was also a Senior Copy Editor for the Emmy and Peabody-Award winning news program "The Situation Room with Wolf Blitzer."

DeDakis has authored five Lark Chadwick mystery/suspense novels -- Fast Track, Bluff, Troubled Water, Bullet in the Chamber, and Fake. Each novel features strong-willed, strong-minded protagonist Lark Chadwick. The series begins in south central Wisconsin with a vexed, 20-something Lark trying to figure out what to do with her life. His most recent novel, Fake, has Lark thrust into a media-bashing frenzy at a time when facts are suspect, and reporters are targets. ("A gripping, topical tale about the difficulties of discerning the truth in the new world of fake news." –Kirkus). Each story stands alone, but throughout feature the themes of journalistic integrity and mentoring relationships.

DeDakis' awards include an Emmy for his role in CNN's coverage of the 9/11 terror attacks; the American Bar Association's Gavel Award for "Judges of the Facts," a television documentary on the jury system; and an UPI Wisconsin award for "The Cubans: Freedom and Frustration," a television documentary about the Cuban Boatlift of 1980.

John and his wife Cynthia met in 1977 at St. Andrews Episcopal church in Madison, Wisconsin. They married the next year and now live in Baltimore. Cindy is a former music consultant for the Episcopal Diocese of Maryland. From 2011-2015 she was the manager of the chorister program at National Cathedral in Washington, D.C. They have three adult children. Learn more at: www.johndedakis.com

Genre: Mystery/Suspense – Mystery features a secret whose truth is figured out based on clues, psychology, or some mix of the two. The genre emphasizes the puzzle aspect of the plot. Suspense centers on not who did it, but whether the villain will be caught before committing another crime.
